MADERO AND SUAREZ ARE SLAIN IN NIGHT ATTACK

Huerta's Explanation Unsatisfactory to The Ambassadors.
Prisoners Made Attempt to Get Free, Is Story.
Officials say Escort Was Assailed.

Mexico City, Feb. 23.—Francisco I. Madero and Jose Pino Suarez are dead, killed in a midnight ride under guard from the national palace to the penitentiary.

The circumstances surrounding the deaths of the deposed president and vice president of the republic are unknown except as given in official accounts, which do not conform in all cases. The only witnesses were those actually concerned in the killing.

The provisional president, Gen. Victoriano Huerta, says the killing of the two men was incidental to a fight between their guard and a party attempting to liberate them. The minister of foreign relations Francisco de la Barra adds that the prisoners attempted to escape. Neither makes a definite statement as to which side fired the fatal shots. It is not impossible that neither knows.

Solemn Promises Are Made
The tragedy occurred shortly after midnight. Madero and Suarez, who had been prisoners in the national palace since their arrest on Tuesday last, were placed in an automobile which was accompanied by another car and escorted by 100 rurales under the orders of Commandant Francisco Cardenas and Col. Rafael Pimiento.

With instructions not to outdistance the escort the cars moved slowly. No incident occurred until they had reached a point near the penitentiary where in an open place the guards attention was attracted according to the official version to a group of persons following. Shots were fired at the escort out of the darkness. The rurales closed in and ordered the prisoners out of the car.

Thirty of the guards surrounded the prisoners, while the remainder disposed themselves to resist an attack. About fifty men, some afoot and some mounted, threw themselves upon the detachment guarding the cars and the exchange of shots lasted twenty minutes, when the attacking party fled. The dead bodies of Madero and Suarez then were found.

Madero Died Instantly
The body of Madero shows only one wound. A bullet entered the back of the head and emerged at the forehead.

The body of Suarez shows many wounds entering from in front.

TEETZEL'S MEN LOSE TO B. Y. C.

Coach Jensen's Basketball Team Wins in a Closely Fought Contest by a Score of 16 to 14

The Utah Aggies were defeated by the B. Y. College basketball team Saturday afternoon on the B. Y. gymnasium floor by the close score of 16 to 14. The contest was as close as one has ever been played on a local floor. Both teams were in the best of condition. They played good ball throughout the entire game. College spirit ran high from the first whistle and continued until the last gun announced the close of the second half. The cheering, possibly added much to the interest manifest in the game, yet it is a question if such a noise did much to assist the players in following the ball. In fact, the crowd was so noisy that at times the referee would sound his whistle and the game would continue for several seconds before the players would learn that the ball was not in play. Both teams were determined to win. The Aggies captured the first game in the season with the Crimson team and it was sweet revenge to turn the tables at the Saturday contest.

The B. Y. C. boys took the lead in the scoring. The first free throw from foul line was awarded the Aggies but Owen missed. This was soon followed by a foul being called and Barron tried for goal which was

PROF. CLARK AT THE TABERNACLE

Gives Audience Treat By Reading
"The Melting Pot" and Short
Irish Story

A large and appreciative audience was in attendance at the Clark lecture given Saturday evening at the tabernacle under the auspices of the U. A. C.—B. Y. C. Lyceum course. Prof. Clark did not read the "Passing of the Third Door Back," as was announced, but instead read "The Melting Pot." The change of program came on the recommendation of the reader, although he gave the audience the privilege of choosing the selection it preferred. His judgment in this matter, however, was taken to be sound and very gracefully did the listeners change their desires for hearing the program as announced. The reader's judgment in the matter was found to be good and the same attentiveness as is always characteristic of the Clark lectures prevailed. He also read a short Irish story to good advantage.

STUDENTS HAVE CELEBRATION

Yesterday was a gala day for the students of the B. Y. College. They diverted their attention from books and spent a day in fun. Except for a class or two in the early morning, there was nothing doing in the book line. About 9:30 an announcement was hurried through the halls of the college to the effect that the faculty had granted a holiday and in a few minutes the entire student body had gathered in the chapel hall, where a spirited program was given. Prof. J. W. Gardner was called upon to give a speech, he was followed by Coach Joseph Jensen. Captain Peterson spoke on behalf of the basketball team and E. M. Barrus spoke in behalf of the team on the sidelines. Hochstrasser made a bow and issued a challenge to Barron Merrill, of stilt tendencies to a four round boxing contest to show the students that he was capable of taking care of himself even if he did desert from a little friendly jostle upon threats issued at the point of a billy club.

From the chapel the crowd assembled in the gymnasium. Here the faculty and first year students entered in a tug-of-war contest. The first year's dragged them about with perfect ease. The faculty took revenge on the third year students. The third and fourth years won easily from the school in a basketball game, as did the faculty from the school in a similar contest. The official of the game was rather Bullen-esque in his decisions. The Hochstrasser-Merrill bout was then staged. The little German who took the honors from the town officers gave Merrill an experience similar to the one he gave Cranney on Saturday. The celebration was concluded by a parade of the city and a dance in the gym in the afternoon.

Almost as weighty as the mapping of administration policies for the next four years, which is President Elect Wilson's job, are the varied duties of William Corcoran Eustis, chairman of the inaugural committee. Mr. Eustis is planning and directing all details of the inauguration parade, actual inaugural ceremony and whatever social functions occur to mark that event. Above is a picture of Mr. Eustis and of the great grand stand in front of the treasury building, upon which several thousand school children will sit to watch the parade.

COLLEGE PEOPLE GIVE TALKS WHICH MEAN MUCH TO THE FARMER

Southern Utah Looks For Better Agriculture As Result of U. A. C. Visit.

The Housekeepers' Conference a Record Breaker. Agricultural College Preaches a New and Great Gospel of the Home—Instructors Make Many Friends

A crowded house at Richfield greeted the first Farmers' Roundup and Housekeepers' Conference of the Extension Division of the Utah Agricultural College held in Southern Utah. Nearly four hundred people were in attendance, many traveling over fifty miles to be at the first day's session. Simon Christensen of Richfield was chairman of the meeting and was assisted in arrangement by James Bolitho, W. C. B. Orrock, John W. Ross and John E. Heppler, secretary and treasurer. Dr. E. G. Peterson of the Extension Division of the college opened the convention with a discussion of the agricultural outlook. Dr. Peterson analyzed the "New Movement" in agriculture. High tribute was paid the pioneers of Utah for the great ideas in agriculture held in which, only now, Utah is coming to fully realize. "Co-operation is the basis of successful farming," said the speaker. Utah is a beginner in co-operation, but has much to learn in business details from such states as California. Utah solved irrigation and dry farming problems and must now face and solve the problem of effective co-operation in agriculture. The Panama canal will make new markets for Utah farmers and in five years will double our markets. Farming must quickly become the profession which claims the best brains of the state.

Prof. John T. Caine, III, discussed the live stock business. He laid stress upon the fact that the present high price paid for live stock was not a local, but a general condition and would continue for years. He stated that it should be made a criminal offense for a live stock man to sell extensively his young stock even under present market conditions. Every feeder of the live stock in the state should demand that Utah breeders hold their young animals. He stated that already the industry in Southern Utah was threatened due to the practical depletion of the young herds in some sections. Prof. Caine stated that any system of diversified farming demanded animals and especially dairying.

One of the best ways to keep Utah boys on the farm and to build up our rural population is to have a high class of animals in the state. Prof. W. E. Carroll discussed feeding farm animals, recommending a careful study of the food values of different Utah feeds. He was followed by John K. Olson of Ephraim, who talked on breeding for the range and by Prof. J. T. Caine, on the breed question. The discussion was led by James Bolitho of Richfield, after which a judging of feeders and fat cattle occurred at the fair grounds.

The evening program consisted of a lecture on education for all the people by Dr. E. G. Peterson and "Farm Management" by Prof. D.

W. Working of the United States department of agriculture.

The second day recorded a large increase in attendance, many coming from other counties who were unable to be present the first day. The enrollment reached over five hundred Friday.

The day's session was opened with a discussion by Prof. Caine on the future of the sheepmen. He stated that the sheep industry was in a prosperous condition and expressed the opinion that the political readjustment would effect very little the welfare of the wool growers. Prof. Caine recommended organization of the sheepmen to protect themselves against unscrupulous buyers. He stated that the basis of successful wool marketing was careful sorting of the fleece and effective organization of the growers to market their wool at the best time. He advised the storing of wool under certain conditions to be worked out by the local organization. He gave detailed

BILL BOARDS TO BE REMOVED

Mayor H. G. Hayball, in an effort to destroy old land marks of long years of standing, has issued an order to the city bill poster to remove the board walls which now adorn the old Peacock property on Center street, just west of the Lincoln hotel. No one, it is to be hoped, will censure the Mayor for this little act of kindness toward the people who reside in this neighborhood. He would do an act of kindness and one that would be received with much commendation were he to proceed along the same line and ask that the boards just across the street south of the Lincoln hotel be removed also. The first matter mentioned will be removed as soon as the contract expires for the advertisements which are at the present time, thereon pasted.

THOMAS TARBETT MEETS DEATH

Was Killed in Run-away Near His Home in Benson Ward Yesterday
Afternoon

Thomas Tarbett aged 32 years of Benson ward was killed yesterday afternoon near his home as the result of a run-away. Mr. Tarbett had been to Smithfield on business and as he returned home and was entering the lane which leads to his house he reached for an empty milk can. At this juncture the horses became frightened and proceeded to run. The unfortunate man it appears was successful in getting hold of one line in which he became entangled and was dragged for considerable distance his head bumping the fence posts. When picked up a few minutes later by a member of the family, life was almost gone. The first thought was to bring him to Logan but death came before any action could be taken. Deceased is the son of Mrs. Debora Tarbett of this city and his wife was formerly Miss Esther Johnson of Smithfield. He is survived by a widow and two small children.

JUVENILE CLERK IS APPOINTED

The county commissioners have appointed C. F. Olsen as clerk of the juvenile court. He succeeds C. W. Dunn who has acted in this capacity for several years and who has made a very capable official. At the same meeting they decided to call a mass meeting at College ward to get an expression from the people of that place on the advisability of opening up a new county road which some of the citizens are asking for. The number of names were discussed for road supervisors of the various precincts. Each commissioner submitted the names of persons he wanted to act in this capacity in his district. While all the names were not acted upon those who were suggested by the commissioners were as follows:

Mendon—A. H. Richards; College and Young—C. L. Olsen; Wellsville—William Painter; Millville—H. C. Henneker; Hyrum—Wells McBride; Paradise—John T. Roberts; Avon—P. A. Johnson; Mt. Sterling—Willard Baxter; Logan—William Peterson; Hyde Park—Reuben Perks; Riverside—Andrew Munk; Petersburg—Peter Peterson; Providence—A. B. Crabtree; Smithfield—George P. Toolson; Newton—David Clark; Clarkston—Henry M. Godfrey; Trenton—Delbert Winn; Cornish—J. W. Pitcher. The precincts not mentioned have not received consideration before the board as yet.

MUTT AND JEFF AT NIBNEY HALL

Mutt and Jeff comes to Nibney Hall next Friday night. A company of 50 people is carried with a carload of magnificent scenic and electrical effects. Also new music, songs and dances not overlooking the inevitable cargo of petite feminine beauty without which no real show is complete. Mr. Hill holds the enviable record of having put over the greatest financial and artistic musical comedy success of a quarter century in his production of bud Fisher's clever cartoon conceit Mutt and Jeff. It is almost impossible to conceive the amount of publicity the play has received through the publication of the Fisher cartoon in more than five hundred daily newspapers in every part of the United States and Europe.

There is hardly a man, woman or child in the country who has not seen and laughed at Mutt and Jeff in the pictures. Mutt and Jeff will invade London during the current season.

The Relief Society officers meeting of the Cache stake will be held on Saturday March first at the usual time and place.
